- Club Captains must ensure that they only enter competent crews and that their crews are properly prepared for the race. All competitors should be able to swim at least 50m in light clothing.
- Entries close on Friday 3rd March and should use the official entry form that will be emailed to each club or be able to download under www.hkharbourregatta.com. Payment for entries should be completed in advance of race day.

Please note that any damage to equipment will be charged to the crew deemed to be at fault.

Waiver forms & Safety Information:

All competitors are required to sign a waiver form before racing.

Junior athletes must have their forms co-signed by a parent or guardian & submitted in advance.

Safety briefings & information related to the race will be provided in the registration area, and crews must confirm they have attended and understood the key points.

Safety information will be provided in English and Chinese

To ensure that all competitors follow the correct course, and that all boats can complete the race safely, all steersmen of coxless boats and coxswains MUST attend a briefing before racing (briefings will be given in English and Chinese).

The Course:

The race will start and finish in front of the RHKYC Clubhouse on Kellett Island. There will be two lanes each approximately 300m long, each with a large marking buoy at their western end.

On being started by the umpire, crews are required to race towards the buoy at the end of their lane. They will then turn around their buoy in a direction that takes them away from the other lane (i.e. crews in the Hong Kong lane [lane 1] will turn towards the Island, crews in the Kowloon lane [lane 2] will turn towards Kowloon side) and race back to the finish line (same position as the start line), a total of approximately 600m.

The finish judge will sound an air-horn as each crew crosses the line, and will declare a winner. The winning crew in each round will progress to the next round of their event. Losing crews will be knocked out of the event.

The turn around the marker buoy at the end of each lane will require additional skill and care. Crews must turn around the buoy designated for that lane. A crew may touch the turning buoy with their oars or their boat, but the hull of the boat must pass around the correct side of the buoy. Crews failing to turn around their buoy correctly will be excluded if they have gained any advantage or caused any interference or disadvantage to the other crew.

Please see the attached maps at the end of this document.

The Start, the Race and the Finish:

- The first named crew in each heat will race in Lane 1 (Hong Kong side) the second named crew with race in Lane 2 (Kowloon side)
- Each crew will be pre-allocated a boat and also a boating time. Crews can find out which boat has been allocated to them by checking the program at registration, and then looking for the boat with that number at the boating area, or if the boat is already on the water, when it comes in from the previous race
- Crews will launch from their designated boating area, OR, where the boat is already on the water, crews should be at the boating area in time to take over the boat from the previous crew when it arrives at the pontoon / slipway.
- As soon as they have boated, crews must proceed directly to the Waiting Area to the northwest of the start/finish line in sufficient time to be under the control of the starter and be ready to race at the designated start time.
- Do not row away from the Waiting Area for a warm up as you will not hear instructions and may miss your start time. Crews not in the Waiting Area at the correct time may be disqualified. A race may be started without a crew if they are not at the start on time.

The Start:

The Starter will ensure that both crews are ready to start (i.e. in the correct lane and aligned)

The Starter will announce the event and name the crews as listed in the program.

The Starter will then say “Attention”. The Starter will then raise a red flag above his head. After a pause, he shall then say “Go”, at the same time dropping the flag sharply to one side. The race will start on the command “Go” and the movement of the flag.

A crew starting before the start command causes a false start and shall be awarded a Yellow Card. A crew having 2 Yellow Cards in one race shall be excluded.

Safety:

There will be boats providing safety cover beside the course at all times. If you require assistance, please shout and wave to attract their attention.

Competitors should be able to swim at least 50m in light clothing. All competitors will be required to wear PFDs (personal flotation devices), provided by the organisers, when afloat.

Penalties:

The Umpire may award penalties to crews in the following circumstances. Such penalties shall be subject to the decision of the Umpire:

- Racing below status (disqualification)
- Racing with un-declared crew changes (including coxswains) (disqualification)
- Being late at the start (exclusion)
- Failure to follow official instructions (either written or verbal) (penalty will depend on the nature of the infraction – Yellow Card, exclusion or disqualification)
- Leaving the designated race course and causing interference or danger to another crew, or gaining any advantage (exclusion)
- Failure to correctly turn around the designated turning buoy (exclusion)
- Offensive language or any other un-sportsmanlike behaviour (Yellow Card or disqualification)
- Collision with another crew (exclusion)

A crew wishing to object against another crew may only do so at the end of the race and before leaving the area of the Finish Line by raising their hand and calling to the Umpire. The nature of the objection shall be explained to the Umpire who will make his decision and inform the crew or crews accordingly. A protest against the decision of the Umpire on the objection may only be made to the Chief Umpire in writing within 1 hour, accompanied by a protest fee of $500.. A decision on the protest shall be made before the next round of racing involving the crews concerned.

The Finish:

As each crew crosses the finish line, the Finish Judges will sound a horn and record their time. The first crew to finish the race should be alert to not interfere with the other crew behind them.

Crews who have finished should turn and row back immediately to the boat launching area, to hand the boat to the next crew, making sure they follow any additional instructions given by race officials.
